Your Family Report

Prepared for A. Sample Parent · Includes: Co-Parenting Assessment, Special Needs Assessment, Family Violence & Communication Safety

Your Family Violence & Communication Safety assessment placed your co-parenting communication at Level 3 - Assisted Problem-Solving. Your Co-Parenting Assessment (10 sections) currently reflects Building Progress. Your Special Needs Assessment (10 principles) currently reflects Building Progress.

Communication Safety

Level 3: Assisted Problem-Solving

Move to a written, structured channel for most decisions.

Direct conversation is currently possible but written channels reduce friction and keep decisions traceable.

Recommendations

- Use a shared parenting app for all non-emergency communication.
- Use BIFF-style messages (Brief, Informative, Friendly, Firm).
- Schedule a weekly 10-minute child-focused check-in.
- Loop a Parenting Facilitator or mediator in when decisions stall.

Co-Parenting Assessment

Overall: Building Progress

You have real strengths to build on, alongside a handful of areas that would benefit from focused attention.

Strengths

- Educational Needs

Ensure both parents actively support educational success.

- Medical & Healthcare Needs

Coordinate healthcare across both homes.

- Daily Routines & Home Consistency

Create predictable environments that help the child thrive.

Priority focus

- Communication & Information Sharing (Needs Improvement)

Why it matters: Communication frequently escalates or breaks down before important information is shared.

First step: Move all non-emergency communication to a written, timestamped channel.

- Pick-Up, Drop-Off & Transitions (Fair)

Why it matters: Exchanges are frequently a source of stress.

First step: Move exchanges to a neutral, low-stimulation location.

Communication toolkit

- Use BIFF messages

Brief, Informative, Friendly, Firm. Aim for 4 sentences or fewer.

- Move to a written channel

Timestamped app/email for all non-emergency updates.

- Weekly child-focused check-in 10 minutes, same day/time, fixed agenda.

- Delay before responding

Wait 4 hours before replying to charged messages.

- Facts, not feelings, in writing

Move emotional processing to a therapist or friend.

Section-by-section detail

Section 1: Communication & Information Sharing

Rating: Needs Improvement

Share information reliably and calmly.

Findings

- Communication frequently escalates or breaks down before important information is shared.

Recommendations

- Move all non-emergency communication to a written, timestamped channel.

Section 2: Pick-Up, Drop-Off & Transitions

Rating: Fair

Findings

- Exchanges are frequently a source of stress for you or your child.

Recommendations

- Move exchanges to a neutral, low-stimulation location and add a 5-minute buffer.

Section 3: Educational Needs

Rating: Good

Findings

- Academic support is generally consistent between homes.

Recommendations

- Add both parents' emails to the school's official contact list.

Section 4: Medical & Healthcare Needs

Rating: Excellent

Findings

- Medical care is well-coordinated across both homes.

Recommendations

- Keep a shared medication + appointment log.

Section 5: Daily Routines & Home Consistency

Rating: Good

Findings

- Most routines in your home are consistent.

Recommendations

- Identify one routine to align across both homes.

Section 6: Emotional & Behavioral Support

Rating: Good

Findings

- Emotional support is generally strong.

Recommendations

- Add a brief daily emotional check-in.

Section 7: Therapy & Treatment Reinforcement

Rating: Fair

Findings

- Therapy homework isn't consistently reinforced.

Recommendations

- Schedule 10 minutes of therapy practice daily.

Section 8: Safety & Supervision

Rating: Excellent

Findings

- Physical and medical safety practices are solid.

Recommendations

- Do a periodic safety walkthrough.

Section 9: Social Participation & Community

Rating: Good

Findings

- Social participation is generally healthy.

Recommendations

- Coordinate on activities across homes.

Section 10: Long-Term Success & Growth

Rating: Fair

Findings

- Long-term skill-building is inconsistent.

Recommendations

- Pick one skill to reinforce weekly.

Recommended next steps

- Move all non-emergency communication to a written, timestamped channel.
- Move exchanges to a neutral, low-stimulation location and add a 5-minute buffer.
- Schedule 10 minutes of therapy practice into the daily rhythm.
- Pick one skill and reinforce it weekly.

Special Needs Assessment

Overall: Building Progress

You have real strengths across the 10 special-needs principles, with a few priority principles to sharpen.

Strengths

- Understand & Share Your Child's Diagnosis

Build shared knowledge of the diagnosis and its daily impact.

- Practice Compassion and Patience

Approach disagreements with empathy; keep the child at the center.

Priority focus

- Maintain Open, Child-Focused Communication (Needs Improvement)

Why it matters: Conversations escalate before therapy/school/medication info is shared.

First step: Move all non-emergency communication to a written, timestamped channel.

- Manage Transitions Smoothly (Fair)

Why it matters: Your child shows anxiety around exchanges more often than you'd like.

First step: Use transition warnings and a visual schedule 24 hours before each exchange.

Communication toolkit

- Use BIFF messages

Brief, Informative, Friendly, Firm.

- Move to a written channel

Timestamped app for therapy/medication/school updates.

Principle-by-principle detail

Principle 1: Build an Individualized Parenting Plan

Rating: Good

Findings

- Findings for principle 1.

Recommendations

- Recommendation for principle 1.

Principle 2: Prioritize Consistent Routines & Predictability

Rating: Fair

Findings

- Findings for principle 2.

Recommendations

- Recommendation for principle 2.

Principle 3: Maintain Open, Child-Focused Communication

Rating: Needs Improvement

Findings

- Findings for principle 3.

Recommendations

- Recommendation for principle 3.

Principle 4: Align on Core Expectations

Rating: Fair

Findings

- Findings for principle 4.

Recommendations

- Recommendation for principle 4.

Principle 5: Understand & Share Your Child's Diagnosis

Rating: Excellent

Findings

- Findings for principle 5.

Recommendations

- Recommendation for principle 5.

Principle 6: Coordinate Education & Therapy

Rating: Good

Findings

- Findings for principle 6.

Recommendations

- Recommendation for principle 6.

Principle 7: Manage Transitions Smoothly

Rating: Fair

Findings

- Findings for principle 7.

Recommendations

- Recommendation for principle 7.

Principle 8: Be Flexible and Adaptable

Rating: Good

Findings

- Findings for principle 8.

Recommendations

- Recommendation for principle 8.

Principle 9: Build a Support Network

Rating: Good

Findings

- Findings for principle 9.

Recommendations

- Recommendation for principle 9.

Principle 10: Practice Compassion and Patience

Rating: Excellent

Findings

- Findings for principle 10.

Recommendations

- Recommendation for principle 10.

Recommended next steps

- Attend the next IEP/504 meeting together.
- Add a shared therapy-carryover log.
- Book a 6-month plan review.

Combined next steps across your assessments

- [Safety] Use a shared parenting app for all non-emergency communication.
- [Safety] Use BIFF-style messages (Brief, Informative, Friendly, Firm).
- [Safety] Schedule a weekly 10-minute child-focused check-in.
- [Safety] Loop a Parenting Facilitator or mediator in when decisions stall.
- [Co-Parenting] Move all non-emergency communication to a written, timestamped channel.
- [Special Needs] Attend the next IEP/504 meeting together.
- [Co-Parenting] Move exchanges to a neutral, low-stimulation location and add a 5-minute buffer.

This Family Report is an educational reflection tool from SA CoParents. It is not a diagnosis, custody evaluation, or legal advice. Findings are based on the parent's own self-assessment answers. Safety findings do not include identifying question-level detail; they only reflect the overall communication pathway level.